

EARLY MUSIC NOW WITH SARA SCHNEIDER

Broadcast Schedule — Fall 2020

PROGRAM #: EMN 20-16
RELEASE: October 5, 2020

Vox Femina III

Raphaella Aleotti was born into a wealthy family in Ferrara in 1575, and would go on to direct an elite ensemble of nuns at the convent of San Vito, for whom she also composed music. We'll hear some of her compositions performed by Cappella Artemisia. We'll also hear the 'secret music' of the concerto delle donne, a group of virtuoso female singers founded by Alfonso II, Duke of Ferrara.

PROGRAM #: EMN 20-17
RELEASE: October 12, 2020

Ensemble Organum

Marcel Pérès founded Ensemble Organum in France in 1982, and since then the group has become an outstanding source of unique chant and polyphony. We'll sample several of my favorite Ensemble Organum recordings in this episode, including Chant of the Knights Templar, the Gradual of Eleanor of Brittany, and polyphony from 12th century Aquitaine.

PROGRAM #: EMN 20-18

Salve Antverpia

The centerpiece of this show is a 2019 reissue from La Caccia featuring music played, sung, and printed in Antwerp during the 16th century, including a motet written in honor of the city by Tylman Susato. We'll also hear from composers who were active in Antwerp, like Barbireau, Obrecht, and John Bull.

Music from the Baldwin Partbooks

John Baldwin was a singer and copyist in Renaissance England. He was responsible for the partbooks which bear his name, but he also copied My Ladye Nevells Booke, the rich anthology of keyboard music by William Byrd. We'll hear selections from both collections, performed by the Marian Consort, Rose Consort of Viols, and Davitt Moroney.

Of Palaces and Popes

This week's show presents music from Spain, including selections from El Cancionero de Palacio (1474-1516), performed by Hesperion XX, directed by Jordi Savall. We'll also hear the Barcelona Mass (late 14th century), the history of which is intimately linked to the Avignon papacy. That performance comes from a 2019 release from Ensemble Gilles Binchois.

PROGRAM #: EMN 20-21
RELEASE: November 9, 2020

For All the Saints

This week's show is a musical celebration of Roman Catholic saints. We'll hear motets in honor of St. Basil and St. Sebastian by Jacob Obrecht, selections from Dufay's Mass for St. James the Greater, plus medieval and Renaissance music for St. Francis of Assisi. Our performers include the Rose Ensemble, Psallentes, and the Binchois Consort.

PROGRAM #: EMN 20-22

Occitan Nights

This week's show presents two recent releases of medieval love songs, including troubadour songs performed by Ensemble Céladon, and 13th century French courtly love songs with Alla Francesca, directed by Brigitte Lesne.

PROGRAM #: EMN 20-23
RELEASE: November 23, 2020

The Lantins Brothers

Arnold and Hugo de Lantins were among the earliest oltremontano: singers and composers from the Low Countries who dominated the music scene in Italy starting in the late 14th century. Guillaume Dufay even toasted their health in a song called Hé, compaignons. We'll hear sacred and secular works by the Lantins performed by Capilla Flamenca and Le Miroir de Musique.

PROGRAM #: EMN 20-24

Masterworks from the Düben Collection

Gustav Düben the Elder served as chapel master at the royal court in Sweden in the 17th century. He was an avid collector of music manuscripts; the collection that bears his name contains about 2300 pieces. We'll sample some of these rarely-heard gems, by composers like Schmelzer, Carissimi, Caterina Giani, and Dieterich Buxtehude.

Monteverdi's Swan Songs

Claudio Monteverdi was actively composing until his death on November 29, 1643. This week's show presents several works written late in his career, including selections from Selva Morale e Spirituale, L'incoronazione di Poppea, and the Eighth Book of Madrigals. Our performers include Cantus Cölln, L'Arpeggiata, Nuria Rial, and Philippe Jaroussky.

Agricola: Strange or Sublime?

Why not both? Alexander Agricola's music has been called crazy, dark, hyperactive, and a host of other things. We'll sample works by this 15th century master, including his Missa In Myne Zyn, the majestic hymn Ave Maris Stella, and secular instrumental pieces like the enigmatically titled Cecus non judicat de coloribus (the blind man cannot distinguish colors). Our performers include Ensemble Leones, Capilla Flamenca, and Encantar.
